During the summer school, all attendees are kindly requested to wear the badge. The badge serves as a pass for lectures and lunches.

2. Venue

The summer school will be held at the Institute of Atmospheric Physics (IAP), Chinese Academy of Sciences (CAS). The map around the venue is provided in appendix, on which major hotels, restaurants, supermarkets and banks are shown.

3. Transportation

IAP is about 27km from Beijing Capital International Airport (BCIA), 16km from Beijing Railway Station, 15km from Beijing West Railway Station, and 20km from Beijing South Railway Station. If you take a taxi, do wait for a taxi at the airport or railway station designated taxi station and ask for receipt before getting off.

Please take me to the Institute of Atmospheric Physics,
Chinese Academy of Sciences! Thank you!
请送我去中国科学院大气物理研究所，谢谢！

4. Weather

July is the hottest and wettest month of Beijing, with the highest temperature reaching up to 40°C (104°F), accompanied with a moderate rainfall of 185mm (7 inches). Thunderstorms are frequent along with sudden torrential rain. Due to the high temperatures and humidity of July weather in Beijing, this city has 'sauna' days towards the end of the month, when it is so hot, and excessive perspiration soaks through the clothes.

5. Time zone

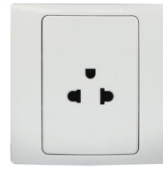

China Standard Time (Beijing Standard Time) is eight hours ahead of Greenwich Mean Time (GMT).

6. Medical care and insurance

For first aid or medical care services, please contact the Secretariat. The medical fee should be borne by the patient. It is important that participants bring personal insurance for the duration of the trip.

7. Power supply

Most North American countries and Japan use 110V electricity, while China uses 220V, 50Hz. A voltage converter or transformer is needed in this case.

8. Currency

The official currency in China is CNY (Chinese Yuan). Currency exchange center can be found at airport, local banks. There is a branch of Bank of China near IAP.
